

ARCHANGEL METATRON
Bottle 100 – Clear/Deep Magenta
Archangel Metatron
21st March 2000

B100

Buddha and the gods speak the highest truth in oracles,
The stupid man lies and turns his back on it all –
Dear Reader: I beg you to go the whole way with this ...
There's no time left to hope for better things.

It is with absolute delight that I can say that Archangel Metatron was born at 12.30pm today, 21 March 2000.

Metatron has been something that I've been feeling around for quite some time, as also has Erik.

Metatron has been called the King of Angels and otherwise known as the Angel of the Covenant. He is also an important link between the Human Kingdom and the Divine Kingdom. The way this is emphasised in the Kabbalah is that he's often attributed to the highest sphere, Kether, and also the Foundation, Malkuth.

Metatron was thought to have been in incarnation in physical form as Enoch, and so one of his attributions was also his E.T. connection because of this life as Enoch and his visions of "The Chariots of Fire". It is an amazing thing when you feel into this energy and feel what's happening with this Bottle. It is as though there is a whole new possibility for us here.

There is an incredibly strong connection between Michael and Metatron that, in some ways, Metatron over lights Michael with his work with the planetary grid system. It is through the way in which Metatron works with Michael and our point in time that the whole of the vibrational structure of the Earth is being modified to be able to produce the heightening of vibration towards zero point. It's a factor of Metatron's work through the Michaelic energy that produces this effect.

Another expression that is quite extra-ordinary is that Metatron is the brother of Sandalphon or, at least, a half-brother of Sandalphon but the different texts say different things. Within the system of Aura-Soma I think the colour co-operation in relation to the way these Archangels have unfolded and Metatron being the return to the zero and the one, with the Clear and the Deep Magenta in the base, is extremely elegant.

One of the things that the Zohar says about Metatron is that he is equal in breadth to the whole world. Interestingly enough that in relation to the Old Testament and the way the Rabbis viewed Adam before he sinned was also with this particular measurement.

One of the informative functions of Metatron is as an aid and guide; even a teacher to those children that are taken early from incarnational experience to the other side.

Let us have a look at the colours in these introductory thoughts about Metatron. In the upper fraction we have the Clear – the suffering and the understanding of suffering, (getting what we don't want, wanting what we can't have and not being able to distinguish between these two) the well of unshed tears made conscious.

In the lower fraction, the Deep Magenta. Both reflect all of the colours. One, the transparency of the light in the above fraction and the Deep Magenta that absorbs all the light in the depths and so we have the light into the shadow. It is an immensely exciting possibility within the range of Aura-Soma. It shakes together as a Deep Magenta flecked with light, the light coming into the shadow. This is the fulfillment of the alchemical possibility that we've seen unfolding recently within the Alchemy Set. The Clear fraction is to see things as they are within the mirror and, at the same time, be prepared to look into what lies within the shadow. We don't disown any aspects of ourselves but we come into an acceptance of what lies within the depths. Think of all the base fractions of the New Age Child Set in relation to those Clear fractions above, coming together in the Archangel Metatron.

It is with these thoughts on 21st March 2000 that I send you much love and light, as ever.

Mimi.